KeepKleen® 3 mil. Disposable Vinyl Lightweight Industrial-grade Gloves

Superior's KeepKleen® industrial-grade disposable vinyl gloves are just 3 mil. thick for superior touch-sensitivity, dexterity and comfort. Gloves have a rolled cuff for extra strength that prevents ripping during donning, and do not contain ANY natural rubber latex, making them a great alternative for those who suffer from latex allergies. Glove is lightly powdered for easy donning, and CFIA approved for food handling.

RDV3 KeepKleen® 3 mil. disposable vinyl gloves, industrial grade, lightly powdered.
CFIA-approved for food handling
Sizes: S, M, L, XL

Symptoms of Latex Allergies

- Red, crusty rash stopping at the wrist where the glove ends
- Red, itchy bumps sometimes associated with runny nose, red eyes and/or asthma
- Rare and severe latex allergies can even result in shock

How to Avoid Latex Allergies

- Latex allergies are often aggravated by powdered gloves which can carry latex proteins. Use a non-powdered glove.
- Best of all, use a non-latex glove such as a nitrile or vinyl.
