

SUPERIOR RECEIVES TOP HONOURS . . .

Superior Glove Works has won the Workplace HR Safety Magazine 2007 Commitment to Worker Safety Award in the category of Hand Protection, which is equivalent to the Best Picture Oscar for the Safety Industry. The Workplace HR Safety Magazine Commitment to Worker Safety Award recognizes achievements in safety equipment product development in North America. Superior Glove was selected for making the best contribution to worker safety with their innovative new Triple Play SKLPSMT glove.

A panel of impartial industry experts evaluated each entry based on innovation, impact on worker safety, and ease of use. The 2007 judging panel included :

- Lisa Greenlund, Director, Risk Management and Safety, Kent Hospital
- Jim Kaletta, CSP, Principal, Safety Management Solutions
- Tony Cantarella, CSP, Esq., Director – Safety, Health and Security, NRG Energy Inc.

The award will be presented to Superior Glove on Monday October 15th at the National Safety Congress in Chicago, where Superior Glove is attending as an exhibitor this year.

"The Triple Play glove took years of research and development, and offers the best combination of abrasion, puncture and cut protection of anything on the market. Pardon the pun, but it truly is a cutting-edge design" says Tony Geng, President of Superior Glove. "This award is a tremendous honor, and we feel it confirms our position as a leading innovator of exciting new ideas in Hand Protection."
